

We have undertaken small scale excavation work in advance of development work and to assess the presence, nature and condition of archaeological deposits that might be affected by development work. We have also carried out similar excavation work to inform conservation and site management.

